DALLAS TI HOME COMPUTER GROUP

September 1982

Last Month

Dr. Leon Tietz of the TI Corporate Engineering Center presented a delightful talk on the FORTH computer language as he has adapted it for the 99/4A. The FORTH system has been written in 9900 Assembler and functions somewhere between Pascal and assembly language in speed and readability. His demonstrations were super and included both complex music and high speed graphics. The finale consisted of both music and graphics programs sharing the screen at the same time that the FORTH assembler was assembling a program. The attached TI-99/4A Memory Architecture diagram was distributed as part of this very well presented program.

September Meeting

The September meeting will consist of an informal review of selected software library programs and a general exchange of information and ideas. Bring "things" and/or programs that you feel others would like to see. Bring your programming problems as well - who knows - your answer might do well to fit someone else's question! (We have several resident "bug killers.")

Location - Gorman Lecture Center, Room F, on the University of Dallas campus. (the building just north of the tower.)

Time - Third Friday of each month at 7:00 PM.

President's REM (Doyle Kelley)

We have provided our mailings to other non-commercial user groups for the past year or so. We wish to express our appreciation for those that see fit to share in this common interest. We are especially pleased to see the quality of activity undertaken by these organizations. The concern for individuals as opposed to products is what most obviously sets these groups apart and can be easily detected in their publications. Congratulations to those groups that have withstood the temptation to compete for sales. The number of group organized classes and services appears to be increasing with each new publication.

The bulk purchase of diskettes has been completed and the initial lot will be available for purchase at the Friday meeting. This bargin transaction has been arranged by several of our members and will allow us to pass this large volume savings on at cost. Price will be approximately $1.75 per diskette.
