Short Newsletter:

Due to the confussion around here (Billy and our exchange student both graduating, completing college preperations for Billy, last vacation excursions for Lutz before he returns to Germany, and most important getting ready for our trip to Oklahoma to see our granddaughter) this will be an extreemly short newsletter.

Reminder:

If this issue contains a renewal form, this will be your last issue of the newsletter unless we receive your renewal form. Please rush your renewal form to us, we want you and you need us.

Languages:

The May issue of the L.A. TopIcs contains a series of articles explaining: TI FORTH, Pascal, c Language, LOGO (as a language for adults, and Pilot.

Update:

For those of you who would like an updated version of the lable program (printed in last month's newsletter), send a SAS envelope to: Harry Allaton, 10300 Kings River Road Sp.57, Reedly Ca. 93654.

Newsletters Galore:

In the past couple of months we have received sample newsletters from several users groups that we have not even heard of before-some of them are fantastic. They have all invited us to exchange newsletters with them, but unfortunatly we must limit the number of exchange copies because of the expence of printing and mailing. Members please take the time to look at these and those we already exchange with, all are filed in the blue binder.

Raffle:

Don't forget to bring something for the monthly raffle.

List:

The May issue of SNUGLET shows 25 ways to list a program.
